3 An image is converted to binary to be represented by a computer.

Complete the table with the missing terms and definition about representing an image.

Term	Definition
.....	This is the smallest component of an image.
resolution	....
.....	This is the number of bits used to create each colour in an image.
.....	This is additional data that is stored with an image that can provide information such as the time and date the image was taken.

[4]