13 What are fixed costs?

A costs that are divided by the amount produced

B costs that are present when output is zero

C costs that change according to the level of output

D costs that decrease when output increases