

5 A computer programmer writes programs that are distributed with a software licence.

(a) Complete the table by writing the type of software licence each statement describes.

Statement	Software licence
A fee is charged for the software. The source code cannot be accessed. Users do not get a free trial.	..... .....
Users can try the software before buying it. Users may not be able to access all features during the trial.	..... .....
Software is usually free of charge. Users can access the source code and alter the program to their needs.	..... .....

[3]

(b) Explain the reasons why it is important for the computer programmer to join a professional ethical body.

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

[3]