

13 Why might governments provide free education for children aged 4 to 16 years old?

A Consumers are not fully aware of the benefits of education.

B Education in a free market system would be over consumed.

C Education is a public good and there would be many free riders.

D The private costs of education exceed the private benefits in a free market.