

9 In which situation is total linear momentum always conserved?

A in all collisions between two objects

B in collisions between two objects moving at equal and opposite velocity

C in collisions between two objects that form an isolated system

D in collisions between two objects with the same mass