

30 Catalytic converters are used to remove oxides of nitrogen from exhaust gases.

The equation represents one of the reactions that occur in a catalytic converter.

What is a disadvantage of using a catalytic converter to remove oxides of nitrogen?

- A CO is an essential reactant in photosynthesis.
- B CO<sub>2</sub> is a greenhouse gas.
- C N<sub>2</sub> is acidic.
- D N<sub>2</sub> is toxic.