

5 A food ordering system is an example of a computer system that is made up of sub-systems.

The food ordering system:

- allows the user to enter the details of the food they want to order and to pay for the order
- displays food available as pictures or as a list.

Complete the structure diagram for the given parts of the food ordering system.

