

22 Which action by employers is most likely to reduce long-term economic growth?

A allowing workers time off to attend retraining courses

B encouraging workers to work flexibly in different roles

C granting workers regular short breaks during the working day

D replacing skilled workers with semi-skilled workers