

27 A country has large reserves of oil. It decides to produce a wide range of goods rather than specialise in oil production.

What is not an acceptable reason in support of this decision?

- A Oil is a non-renewable resource that could be exhausted quickly.
- B Producing a wide range of goods increases the benefits from free trade.
- C Relying on other countries for vital goods and services makes a country vulnerable.
- D The price of oil is volatile, making export revenue unstable.